Honorable John J. Flynt, Chairman
Committee on Standards of Official Conduct
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C. 20515

Dear Mr. Chairman:

In response to your request, we have undertaken a classification review, from the standpoint of this Agency and the Intelligence Community Staff, of documents which were turned over to your Committee by

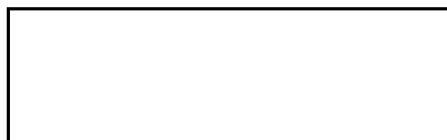

It has been determined that a number of the documents contain national security information, ranging in classification from "Confidential" through "Secret" and one "Top Secret" document.

As discussed recently with Mr. Norman McDaniels of your staff, we understand that these classified documents will not be returned to [redacted] but rather may be remanded to the Clerk of the House of Representatives for secure storage in the National Archives. For your information, the CIA provided two safes and approved the secure storage facilities utilized by the National Archives to maintain sensitive and classified materials from the House Select Committee on Intelligence.

If I can be of further assistance to you in this regard, do not hesitate to let me know.

Sincerely,

George D. Carp
Legislative Counsel
